

Our National voice features news and newsmakers in the multifamily housing industry. Features include industry movers and shakers, profiles of cutting-edge firms and properties, and timely articles covering every aspect of residential property management and ownership.

In addition to our already diverse, timely and relevant editorial we're now adding National Outlook, the newsletter for CFAA. Stitched in the middle of RHB magazine, National Outlook will discuss fair taxation, residential rental policies, the role of government and the political goals that support our industry.

RHB readership continues to grow with every issue because of the competitive advantage we share with the Canadian Federation of Apartment Association (CFAA). As the sole national organization representing the interests of Canada's $80 billion private rental housing industry, the union of CFAA and RHB magazine makes us the most powerful vehicle reaching the multifamily industry decision makers.

CFAA represents the owners and managers of close to one million residential rental suites through 14 associations across Canada and direct memberships.
